

PUNJAB ENGINEERING COLLEGE (DEEMED TO BE UNIVERSITY)

The Punjab Engineering College (Deemed to be University) Chandigarh was originally established as Mugalpura Engineering College at Lahore (Pakistan) on November 9, 1921. The college name was changed to Maclagan Engineering College and started functioning from and on March 19, 1924 at Lahore. In the year of 1931 the college was affiliated To Punjab University, Lahore. After partition the college was shifted to Roorkee, India and stated with the name of East Punjab College of Engineering. In the year of 1953 the college was again shifted to Chandigarh and stated functioning with rename Punjab Engineering College.

DEPARTMENT OF APPLIED SCIENCES

The Department of Applied Sciences offers UG courses and PhD programme in Mathematical, Chemical, Physical Sciences and Engineering Geology. The faculty is pursuing multi-disciplinary research in Topology, Coding Theory, Magnetolectric composites, energy storage, Catalysis, Organic and Inorganic Chemistry and Remote Sensing applications to Geology at the interface of Science and Engineering for development of new Technologies.

OBJECTIVES OF THIS WORKSHOP

The burgeoning engineering education in India is committed to developing and contributing towards excellence in newer technologies which are expected to reward our society by improving the overall quality of life. This workshop will focus on understanding new concepts of functional ordered phases of ferroelectricity, multiferroics, and multifunctional materials through invited lectures, delivered by eminent faculty/scientists from IIT's, IISc, IISER's, DRDO labs. This workshop will foster enhancement of knowledge, interaction, stimulate, motivate and further future collaborations among the eminent speakers, faculty and student participants, particularly, among the CRIKC (Chandigarh Region Innovation and Knowledge Cluster) Institutions
